BioArch RPD NEW!

Removable Partial Denture Resin

BioArch RPD is a high-performance 3D printing material engineered for removable partial dentures that demand rigidity and long-term durability. It provides a stable, precise fit that resists fatigue and fracture without elastomeric flex, while remaining comfortable for the patient. The result is a material designed to withstand repeated placement cycles without compromising fit or function.

Benefits & Features

- Controlled Resiliance and Rigidity
- Unmatched Durability
- High Load-Bearing Stability
- Esthetic Finish

Experience Tomorrow's Dental Solution, Today.

ProMin® F & ProMin®

Tooth Desensitizing Paste with 0.20% Sodium Fluoride

Recommend a New Solution to Your Patients that:

- ✓ Suitable for patients with reduced salivary flow: ProMin F provides calcium, phosphate, and fluoride to help support enamel mineral balance.
- ✓ Free of milk proteins, gluten, peanuts, sodium lauryl sulfate, and triclosan
- ✓ Bioactive CPIC supports remineralization of enamel, dentin
- ✓ CPIC's nano-cluster size enables deep penetration and support of the enamel substructure
- ✓ CPIC supports dentinal tubule remineralization for sensitivity relief

What is the CPIC technology?

CPICs (calcium phosphate ion clusters) are nano-sized, bioactive mineral clusters that can diffuse into the microscopic pores and defects of demineralized enamel and exposed dentin. By reaching below the surface, CPICs help support enamel substructure and dentinal tubules mineral balance, supporting remineralization of enamel, dentin subsurfaces, and tubules—not just the surface.

CPIC technology is engineered to work with the tooth's natural mineralization processes. As CPICs break down, they release calcium and phosphate ions that support hydroxyapatite, supporting mineral density within enamel and helping maintain long-lasting dentinal tubule occlusion for sensitivity relief

How to Apply SDF PRO

Remove excess saliva and isolate the area with cotton or gauze. Apply petroleum jelly if near the gingiva.

Thoroughly dry the affected tooth surface(s).

Dispense 1 drop of SDF Pro into a dappen dish and apply with an applicator.

Allow SDF Pro to absorb for up to one minute. Air dry to remove any excess saliva and precipitation.
